Logan, May 6.—This was founders' day in Logan and the city had one of the greatest celebrations in its history. The newly organized Boosters' club some time ago announced its intention of fittingly celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of this city and the way they accomplished their self-given task has went them new laureis and a host of friends. Practically the entire population of the city turned out to participate in the day's doings and there were hundreds, if not thousands, from settlements outside of Logan.

All the pioneers of the valley who spent the summer and winter of 1859 here were the special guests of the Boosters, and there were over 200 of them.

The celebration began with a parade, that eclipsed all former efforts of that kind here. It was a mile and a half long and was made up of 200 and over. Pioneers in automobiles and carriages, the city officials, 125 Boosters in costumes, ox teams and handcart brigades, the A. C. cadets and military band, the B. Y. college band, a band of seventy-five Indians from the Washakke reservation, 1,200 school children and 1,500 college students. The Boosters erected a monument commenorative of the occasion on the taber-memorative of the occasion on the taber-memorative of La Tribuna of Rome, four Italian papers in this country and the International Geological so-city of Rome. The Boosters erected a monument companionative of the occasion on the taberacle square. It is a rough block of limenate weighing about seven tons and mands upon a broad stone base. Upon it is a large bronze tablet with this inscription upon it:

The Italian started on his trip from New York City on Oct. 4 last. He was accompanied north by Engineer Adolph Schneider, a German, also in the employ of the International society; a Frenchman, Silvio Ortonas, and an American by the name of Albert Wilckes, who are also writing for newspapers in this and in Salt Lake he secured the autographs by the name of Albert Wilckes, who are also writing for newspapers in this and foreign countries. They all started at the same time. The quartet of journalists have four years in which to complete their trip and eleven months of this time is to be given to the study of America. They will all receive a sum of money from the International Geological society when they have finished their

EUREKA NEWS NOTES.

Eureka, May 5.-A farewell party was Eureka, May 5.—A farewell party was given last evening to Hermann Richenbach at the L. D. S. church. There was a large attendance, almost 200 people being present. Many of the ladies brought their "picnic." so that there was no limit to the refreshments. This, with a good program of speeches and singing, made the evening a very enjoyable one. A substantial purse was also raised to help defray Mr. Richenbach's expenses. He will stantial purse was also raised to help de-fray Mr. Richenbach's expenses. He will depart on a two years' mission for his church. His destination is Switzerland. A flurry of excitement was caused here today, when the fire whistle went off at the Gemini. The fire department, as usual, was on the spot instanter and lost no time in putting out the fire. The smokehouse in the meat market of P. J. Fennell had caught fire, but there was no material damage done.

Actual Campaign Maneuvers Carried Out by the Fifteenth Infantry.

The actual conduct of an army of men on campaign duty was illustrated yesterday by the field inspection of the Fifteenth infantry at Fort Douglas. The field inspection was a part of the annual inspection of the troops by the war department. Major Charles G. Morton, in-spector general for the Department of Colorado, is the inspecting officer. All day yesterday the regiment was afield going through intricate maneuvers, just as though they were actually going into battle. The field drill began with the pitching of "pup" tents. These tents are made of light brown canvas and are just large enough so that each accommodate the state of the state dates but one man. They are built low and are hard to discern. They are used only in emergency camps while on the march.

After the tents were pitched guard was mounted. The daily routine began with a regimental drill which lasted nearly all day. In this drill the band, the wagon train, the hospital corps and the machine gun platoon participated. The drill inspection was unusually thorough. It included regimental, battalion, company and individual drill.

cluded regimental, battalion, company and individual drill.

After the regimental drill the wagon train gave a drill in making camp, hitching and unhitching horses, and the machine gun plateon showed its efficiency by packing and unpacking the two-wicked rapid-fire Maxim machine guns on mule back and in range finding. More extensive drilling by the hospital corps and machine gun plateon will be a part of today's inspection. of today's inspection.

At the completion of yesterday's drill the regiment went into emergency camp for the night. The company mess was eliminated and each soldier made his own fire and cooked his own rations, which were carried in haversacks. BINGHAM JUNCTION NOTES.

> WILLING IF HE WOULD WAIT. (Buffalo Commercial.)

In his address before the Philadelphia conference of the Methodist church the other day, Bishop Hamilton related the following anecdote to Hustrate a point: "I think you are all good natured enough to agree with the young lady who, with her fiance, was awaiting a street car. After several cars had passed and they could not get aboard, the young man became impatient. When the next car stopped at the corner he leaped upon the stopped at the corner he leaped upon the platform and said, in pleading terms: 'Come on, Mary, we can manage to squeeze in here, can't we?'

"The young woman colored slightly, but bravely replied, 'I suppose we can, dear, but don't you think we had better wait until we get home?'

HONESTY

Is the best policy. That's what some people think. For ourselves, we don't think much of the honesty that is only policy. We admire more the honesty that is not policy. Take a KOH-I-NOOR suit, for instance. The honesty shown in the material, the costly workmanship, the fashionable cut, the low price, is not policy. It would sell as well and leave us more profit if it were not so well made. But think of the immense amount of satisfaction we get out of selling one of these splendid suits! Think of the reflected joy we have in knowing that the wearer of a Koh-i-noon suit is supremely happy! Think of the friend we make when we sell a man one of these suits! And then envy us.
